Adding Fines to Patron Records

The system can add several types of fines and charges to patron records, such as overdue fines, bills, and manual charges. Each time a fine is added to a patron's record, the system updates the patron record.

Types of Fines and Charges

The table below lists the types of fines that can be assessed automatically and the actions that trigger them:

Type of Charge:	Added When:	For Further Information, See:
Overdue fine	Checking in or renewing an overdue item	Charging Overdue Fines
Bill	Preparing, sending, and clearing the highest level of overdue notice for an overdue item, or marking an item lost	Billing Lost or Unreturned Items
Adjustment charge	Checking in, checking out, or renewing a billed item	Adjusting Charges for Returned Billed Items
Rental charge	Checking in, checking out, or renewing a rental item	Renting Items

Collection agency charge	Sending the collection agency report	Agency Fee (Collection Agency Settings)

If you want to charge a patron for a reason other than those listed above, you can do so by adding a manual charge to the patron's record.

How the System Updates Records when Adding Fines

When the system adds a fine to a patron's record, it makes the following updates:

1. Determines how much to charge the patron. The amount of the fine depends on your library's settings for the type of charge being assessed.
2. Assigns an invoice number to the fine. Invoice numbers range from 1 to 999999 and are assigned sequentially. When the system reaches invoice number 999999, it repeats the invoice numbering, starting again at 1.

3. Records the fine's description, assessed date, charge location, and charge type.
4. Adds an entry for the fine in the patron's Fines tab.
5. Adds the amount of the fine to the total fines in the MONEY OWED field in the patron record.
