Setting Up Offline Circulation

To set up Offline Circulation on a PC workstation:

1. Install the Offline Circulation software.
2. Configure Offline Circulation settings.

Installing Offline Circulation Software

To install Offline Circulation on a workstation, follow the installation instructions for the workstation's operating system:

Non-Windows NT Workstation

1. Download Offline Circulation from CSDirect.
2. Follow the instructions on the CSDirect download page to install Offline Circulation on the workstation.

Windows NT Workstation

1. Log in to the workstation with a login that has administrator privileges.
2. Assign the Offline Circulation staff login for the workstation to the administrator group.
3. Download Offline Circulation from CSDirect.
4. Follow the instructions on the CSDirect download page to install Offline Circulation on the workstation.
5. Log off the workstation.
6. Log back into the workstation with a login that has administrator privileges and reassign the Offline Circulation login to a non-administrator permissions group.

Configuring Offline Circulation

You can configure the following aspects of Offline Circulation on your workstation:

- preferences
- language
- navigation bar display
- statistics

Offline Configuration Files

As you configure Offline Circulation on your workstation, the system writes a record of your settings to the following files in the C:\Millennium\Offline directory:

File	Contents
pccirc.cfg	Preferences for the workstation as specified in the Preferences dialog
pccl.eng	Default language file

To quickly standardize settings between workstations, you can copy these files from one workstation to another.

© 2014 Innovative Interfaces, Inc.